Morning Oregonian.

VOL. XXII.—NO. 6571. PORTLAND, OREGON: FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1882. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

A Steamer Explodes her Boiler while Racing on Lake Erie.

MURDER OF A PRIEST IN TEXAS.

The New York Stock Exchange after some of Its Swindling Brokers—The usual quota of Crimes and Accidents.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Strike.

WASHINGTON, Ind., May 18.—The McCullough iron mills have shut down. The force men have struck.

Knitting Mills Burned.

SENECA FALLS, May 18.—Gleason's knitting mills are in flames and will be destroyed. Loss, $100,000. Three hundred operatives are out of employment.

Pennsylvania Republican Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—The independent republicans have secured Horticultural hall for their state convention Wednesday next.

Killed for Jealousy.

BLACKWATER, Fla., May 18.—Joseph Waters was shot dead by John Williams at this place this morning. Jealousy was the cause. The murderer escaped.

General Assembly Meeting.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 18.—The Presbyterian general assembly met to-day. The attendance was over 400. Rev. Dr. Darling, retired moderator, preached the introductory sermon, and recess was taken till 3 P. M.

A Novel Reward.

DES MOINES, May 17.—A subscription was started here this evening, that has reached twenty-three hundred dollars, for information leading to the arrest of Irish landlords who hired the murderers of Cavendish and Burke in Phoenix park, Dublin.

Board of Trade Resolutions.

NEW YORK, May 17.—At a meeting of the board of trade a committee presented resolutions to the effect that congress should make railroad pooling combinations illegal, in favor of free canals, and asking government inquiry into pooling by cable companies.

The President Sued.

CINCINNATI, May 18.—Suit has been instituted here against President Arthur as member of the firm of Nevels & Ransom, of New York, in the case of Lusk & Co. against the Siemens-Anderson Steel Company, for money claimed by Arthur and his partners.

Arkansas Crops.

LITTLE ROCK, May 17.—Crop reports from all portions of the state, from the 8th to the 15th instant, confirm previous reports of a heavy fruit crop in all quarters. Cotton and wheat have been considerably damaged in localities visited by recent storms, and in many places replanting of the former became necessary. The wheat harvest has already begun along the line of the Fort Smith railroad.

Tanners' Strike in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 18.—The men in all the principal tanneries struck at noon to-day because those in the preparing department who asked for an advance of $1 a week were refused it. They demanded $12 a week. The employers will shut down, and about 10,000 of the 12,000 tanners employed in Chicago are therefore out of work.

A Murderer Wanted.

CHEYENNE, Wy., May 18.—A reward of $500 has been offered for arrest of the Norman McQuaig who murdered two men here named Jackson five years ago and escaped. McQuaig is a Scotchman, nearly 35, six feet tall, large and muscular, blue eyes and sandy hair. A reward will be paid upon the delivery of the man here.

CATTLE ROUND-UPS.

Cattle round-ups are progressing well. An immense quantity of beef will be shipped soon.

Wolfe Declares War.

SUNBURY, Pa., May 17.—Independent republicans to-day elected Charles S. Wolfe, senatorial delegate to the state convention. Wolfe, in an address, referred to the recent conference of independents and regulars, and flatly denied any bargain with Cameron. He concluded as follows: "I deprecate the action which we will be obliged to take. I depreciate democratic ascendency in this state; but all hope of peace is at an end, and nothing is left but war against the spoils system and bossism. Let the future take care of itself."

The Spirit Wood Accident.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Bismarck special: The accident on the Northern Pacific railroad near Spirit Wood, yesterday, killed W. L. Turner, brakeman; Morris Rasine, who was sitting on the tender, and Lavrossan, who was upon the engine cab. A large number of other workmen were badly injured, some perhaps fatally. It was a train containing only workmen. The accident was caused by the breaking of an axle. A number of badly bruised men are now at the hotel.

Steamer Explosion.

CLEVELAND, May 18.—This afternoon the steamer American Eagle exploded the boiler in the steam drum when 12 miles out from Sandusky, and racing with the steamer Jay Cooke, and the fireman, F. Bittle instantly killed. Deck hand F. Walters was fatally injured and the engineer, Johnston, was badly scalded about the face and hands. The tug Mystic towed the Eagle to Kelly island, the hull being uninjured. At the moment of explosion the Eagle was attempting to run across the Cooke's bow.

Suit to Recover Money.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Wm. E. Badeau has brought action in the superior court against Prince & Whitely and James R. Keene to recover $1800, claiming that defendants entered into a conspiracy with C. F. McDermott of San Francisco, to deceive the public as to the value of the Bradshaw and Washington mines in the Tombstone district of Arizona and that owing to false representations contained in circulars, etc., he was induced to risk $1800 in the enterprise. Answer in the suit has not yet been filed.

A Miners' Strike.

CHICAGO, May 18.—A Tribune special from Shenandoah City, Penn., since the miners struck Saturday night, says: Disorder has prevailed throughout the mining regions, and many outrages have been committed. Several non-union miners were killed. The coal and iron companies works are strongly guarded and detachments of police sent to exposed points. At Martinsburg the police were attacked by about 1500 Mollie Maguires, who were beaten off after sharp fight. The strikers are believed to be organizing for an attack on the police. The country is excited and citizens are arming.

Gamblers at Work Again.

Gambling houses are all open again and some of them running more attractive establishments than ever. Possibly without any good reason for thinking so the gamblers are convinced that the prosecutions against them are not bona fide, and say they do not intend to be intimidated.

Double Murder.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., May 18.—Particulars of a double murder at San Pedro de Los Petoles, Mexico, to-day, have just been received here. Two brothers named Romero in their home in that place to attend a fair which was to have been opened this morning. Learning that the opening had been postponed they started away, making noisy demonstrations of disappointment. A few moments later they met Rev. Father Lenard a Catholic priest, and Brother Pedro, who smiled at their action. As they passed the Romeros became enraged and stealthily approaching the priest and brother from behind, stabbed them repeatedly in the back and left them dead on the road. The murderers escaped.

Serious Charges Made.

NEW YORK, May 18.—President Lawrence of the Stock Exchange will officially summon Geo. H. Kennedy and Wm. Hutchinson to appear before the government of the exchange to answer grave charges which he formally preferred, at a special meeting of the governors called for May 31st. When arrangements were made for the famous St. Joe corner last year, John R. Duff of Boston gave his business to Kennedy & Hutchinson, and supposed he had made a great deal of money, but a few weeks ago it was publicly alleged his brokers had not dealt fairly with him, and Hutchinson subsequently refunded $150,000 to Duff. Charges are of a very grave character and it is said the findings of the committee are not favorable to Hutchinson. The complaints made relate wholly to transactions by the firm prior to reorganization the first of the year.

Yesterday's Immigration.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Forty-nine hundred immigrants landed at Castle Garden this morning. Among them were a number of silk weavers from France. They came to this country owing to slackness of business and consequent loss of nearly a quarter of their former wages. There were a party of fifty grape growers, who will pursue their calling in Ohio vineyards, and also many Scotch and English farmers and merchants and operatives from Manchester, Birmingham and Leeds. About a hundred are wool weavers. German steamers brought nearly a thousand immigrants, mostly agriculturalists; also a goodly number of carpenters, masons, painters and miners among them.

Greenback-Labor State Convention.

HARRISBURG, May 17.—The greenback platform will be strong anti-monopoly. The financial plank will insist that all money must be issued by government; will insist on the right of combining against capital; will say public lands should be reserved for actual settlers, and all grants made to corporations, any provisions of which have been violated, should be revoked. To-morrow morning a caucus will arrange order of business.

HARRISBURG, May 18.—Rynder of Altoona was made temporary chairman, and committees were appointed. Recess was taken until 2 P. M., when the convention ordered the following telegram to be sent to Hons. S. N. Brumm and James Mosgrove, at Washington: The national party of Pennsylvania in convention assembled desire you to present to the house of representatives our earnest protest against mortgaging the people of the United States for another term of twenty years to the national banks.

Permanent organization was effected by the election of E. E. Colton of Allegheny as president. Three cheers were given for Hon. John Welch. J. R. Sanborn of New York addressed the convention. The resolutions favor issuing greenbacks by the government and making it legal tender, and denounce the monopoly of money by the national banking system; oppose monopoly transportation and telegraphy, and declare that corporations shall be governed by the state in the interest of the people; demand reservation of public lands, including a vast amount now forfeited by great corporations, for actual settlers; demand such revision of the tariff as shall protect American labor against pauperized foreign labor. Welch of Schuylkill inserted a plank that all pay shall be on a basis of eight hours. The platform as amended was adopted.

Thos. A. Armstrong was nominated for governor, J. V. Powderly, lieutenant governor; J. L. Dewoody, secretary of internal affairs, J. M. Pope, supreme judge; R. K. Tomlinson, congressman at large.

A motion to change the name of the party from the national greenback labor party to the national party caused a breeze and was finally tabled. The convention then adjourned.

Business Prospects of the Country.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The Times to-day has a long article on business prospects of the country of which the following is a fair epitome: The year opened with general expectation among wholesale dealers of the country of a very large business, and with promise of increased activity in all branches of trade and manufactures. Causes which have operated to disappoint or realize these hopes are fairly explained in the letter given below. In the chief centres of business in 25 states, correspondents have secured views of men prominent in their respective branches, and these with observations of correspondents themselves, give trustworthy showing of the present condition of trade, and a sure indication of promise for the summer and fall. In general the spring wholesale trade can be said to be barely satisfactory. The chief exception to this is in the comparatively new regions of the great northwest. There great crowds of immigrants find new homes, and those with active railroad construction, create a demand which has increased general business from 10 to 50 per cent. In various branches, Among the old states, New York alone reports a very good business. A backward spring has done much to check trade in states where there is no cause, as in the northwest to give it an extra stimulous. Some complaints are made that while money value is about the same, high prices have made dealers cautious about buying large stocks. One noticeable feature of the manufacturing business, is a growing demand for goods of a better quality, as shown for instance in the decreased call for low grades of cotton. Skilled labor finds ready employment and generally at good wages. It is reported the ship building interests of Pennsylvania and Delaware are flourishing. House building generally is good, checked somewhat east by high prices of materials, and in Nebraska by strikes. Business generally may be said to be on a more healthy foundation than in recent years. It is more conservative and steady and less marked by "booms" or general speculative excitement. Money with few exceptions is easy for legitimate investment. Collections are generally good. There is little prospect of disastrous failures as dealers are satisfied with smaller profits and cash payments are numerous. The south is turning its attention to new enterprises and manufactures, and depending less upon great staples. Among local or minor industries which have afflicted business are debt agitation in Virginia and Tennessee and whisky legislation which has been a drawback in Kentucky. Advance in many necessaries of life has checked trade somewhat. One fact shown by a letter given below is the growing tendency of the volume of trade to larger cities, thus cutting off business of smaller cities which have hitherto supplied demands of the country around them.

No Sympathy from Orangemen.

BOSTON, May 18.—John Dargin, calling himself the grand master of the grand lodge of Orangemen of Massachusetts, prints a card stating that the letter read at the Irish indignation meeting, purporting to represent fraternal feelings with the league in Boston in the struggle to free Ireland, was wholly without authority of the grand lodge; that Orangemen are peaceful and law-abiding citizens of this country, and have no sympathy whatever with revolutionary tactics.

Notable Dead.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., May 17.—Judge Mullin, member of congress in 1864, died to-day in Saratoga, aged 71.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—A private dispatch received here to-day, announces the death of Henry W. Halleck, son of the late Major General H. W. Halleck, at Littleton, North Carolina, this morning.

Crops in the Flooded Districts.

LITTLE ROCK, May 17.—The commissioner for the distribution of government rations in overflowed districts of the state says that government aid was sufficient to supply all needs up to the 10th inst., and that crop prospects along the line of the flood in this state were never better.

Assistance Offered.

QUEBEC, May 18.—The steamer Progress is going to the relief of the disabled ocean steamer Peruvian, which was burned and three lives lost. The vessel was valued at $80,000; insurance $50,000.

Suicide.

BOSTON, May 17.—Carl Klatt, of Antwerp, second officer of the steamer Peter DeCorrinck, hanged himself to-day because he was found sleeping on his watch.

Cotton Crop Injured.

CHARLESTON, May 18.—The cold nights are having the most injurious effect upon the cotton crop, in some cases rendering replanting necessary.

Convicted.

PARIS, Texas, May 18.—Isam Colt was convicted to-day of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death.

THE TURF.

Out of the Race.

LONDON, May 18.—The colt Kingdom, lamed by a fall, has been scratched from the Derby, Grand Prix and Ascot engagements.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Parliament Proceedings.

LONDON, May 18.—In the house of commons Gladstone replying to Northcote, said he hoped that the second reading of the repression bill would be concluded to-night. If not the debate would be continued till the morning sitting, Friday. He wished to continue it from day to day. He would take the second reading of the arrears bill Monday. He would also ask for a provincial supply for the month. He would therefore ask the house to sit as a whole next week, including, if necessary, Saturday.

The speaker announced the only paragraph in O'Donnell's amendment to the repression bill in order was that one declaring the bill a fatal obstacle to good government tranquility. O'Donnell denounced the bill.

Col. Thurst, liberal member for the county of Cork, supported the bill. He condemned the cowards who issued the no rent manifesto and did not protest against the murders committed, in support of it.

Gladstone stated that the warrant out against Sheridan was not cancelled.

Trevelyan, chief secretary for Ireland, re-elected to parliament was cheered as he took his seat.

Amendment Rejected.

LONDON, May 18.—The Reform club by a vote of 382 to 361, rejected Hartington's proposal for the election of members by the committee instead of the whole club.

Costly to Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 18.—The damage done by the anti-Jewish movement, including houses, breadstuffs and other property destroyed, and money taken away by emigration of Jews, amounts to $110,000,000 all lost to Russia. To this must be added the losses resulting from preventing labor and profit, not only of Jews, but others during the riots and from stagnation of trade generally, which would increase the total by many more millions.

Cordially Welcomed.

LIVERPOOL, May 18.—The mayor cordially welcomed the Jeannette survivors at luncheon. He toasted the guests and expressed admiration for their gallant enterprise. Consul Packard proposed the health of Danenhower and Newcomb. A toast to the lost comrades was drank in silence. Consuls Packard and Shaw escorted the party to the steamer.

Foreign Notes.

LONDON, May 17.—The Standard says: On second reading of the repression bill, the clause relating to public meetings and newspaper publications, will be greatly modified. By dissatisfaction among home rulers with the Kilmainham compact, Parnell's position as leader is endangered.

A Reign of Terror.

LONDON, May 18.—Fear of being arrested in connection with the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Burke is now so general in Ireland that the peasantry traveling outside of their districts are applying to the police for passports. Many emigrants leaving the south of Ireland for America resort to the same course.

Astronomical Study of the Sun.

LONDON, May 18.—Advices from Sohaig, Upper Egypt, say the eclipse of the sun was successfully observed at that place yesterday by English, French and Italian astronomers. A fine comet was discovered close to the sun and its position was determined by photography. The spectroscopic and other observations just before and during the period of totality gave the most valuable results.

A New Style Prayer.

CANTERBURY, May 18.—The upper house of convocation has agreed upon a form of prayer for use during the present troubles in Ireland. It asks for preservation from secret conspiracies and open violence, the appeasement of tumults in Ireland and the healing of her sores.

NEVADA.

Comstock Notes.

VIRGINIA, May 17.—The water struck in the Sierra Nevada last evening made it necessary to increase the stroke of the pump but one stroke per minute. This evening a report was put in circulation that a second influx of water had occurred, which was rapidly filling up the north end of the mine. This report is entirely without foundation. The water found was that mentioned last night. The rock in which that water was found is a hard porphyry lying in blocks. The water came in on one side of the main north drift, which is being run on the 2500 foot level to connect with the Utah. A blast probably made a crack, which connected with some running to a pocket of water. The water is hot, which shows it to be a mere surface collection in the seams and joints of the porphyry. It will be all pumped out in a day or two.

It is expected J. W. Mackay will arrive here about the 1st of July.

Senator Fair and family will leave Washington in about three weeks.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Blaine to Stump Pennsylvania for the Independents.

SHIPHERD GRACEFULLY SNUBBED.

The Democrats Hold a Caucus and Decide to Filibuster and Delay the Nation's Business.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Commissioner Raum Exonerated.

The ways and means committee this morning began the report of the subcommittee investigating charges of White or Keatley in connection with the bonded whisky bill. It unanimously exonerates Commissioner Raum.

Rosecrans' Foot.

Representative Rosecrans says that his physicians give him hope of recovering the use of his lame foot. Amputation was a long time suggested, but the doctors said if he would have patience and wait for a year and not use the foot more than necessary he would recover.

No Action Taken.

Robert R. Hitt appeared this morning before the committee of foreign affairs, but the examination did not proceed. The testimony taken before the subcommittee in New York, in connection with which Hitt is to testify, not being in print no action will be taken on Shipherd's letter of last evening.

A Trifle Late in the Season.

Certain American importers of Austrian goods presented to the committee on ways and means to-day a petition setting forth that by reason of over valuation of the Austrian florin goods imported from Austria during the latter part of 1878 were subjected to excessive duties, and praying such excess may be refunded.

A Rumor of Blaine.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Inter-Ocean Washington special: The most interesting political rumor of higher circles to-night is that Blaine will take the stump in Pennsylvania next fall for the independent ticket. Some people are sanguine enough to believe this means the election of the independent ticket. This is of course improbable, unless it be endorsed by the democratic convention.

The Shipherd Farce.

The house committee on foreign affairs will hold a secret session at ten o'clock to-morrow morning for the purpose of determining what action if any they will take in connection with the Shipherd letter. They have arranged to examine ex-Assistant Secretary of State Hitt, Tuesday next. Shipherd intimates that he has some interesting matter for the public, but will not give it to the press until he has heard from Lamar in reply to his letter.

Lieut. Powell's Proposed Search.

Lieut. J. S. Powell, who goes to the relief of the signal service at Point Barrow, will leave here about the 26th for San Francisco. He hopes to secure the schooner Golden Fleece, the same vessel in which Lieut. Ray went out last year, and she is almost as good as a steamer. He says he expressed fear that Ray and his party did not take sufficient food with them. He does not expect to get back before next December, and may have to make part of his trip overland and remain there all winter. He will be accompanied by a sergeant and four enlisted men of the signal corps.

New Idaho Officials.

CHICAGO, May 18.—A Washington special says: The commission of the marshal of Idaho expired some days since, and his successor's name has been called for daily. It comes from pretty good authority that Mr. Fred Alebers of Illinois will receive the appointment within a day or two. He is backed by Secretary Lincoln and Vice President Davis, and is a deserving young republican. The office of surveyor general will also be filled by the president within a short time, and the private secretary of ex-Senator Conkling, John Wilson of Wyoming, is championed for the place by Representatives Page and Pacheco. He will in all probability receive the place.

A New Land Bill.

Senator Plumb says that the 5 per cent bill will be disposed of to-morrow or next day. Senator Farley has proposed an amendment to the bill requiring the secretary of the interior to ascertain and certify to the secretary of the treasury the amount of sales of public lands made in California since the admission of the state in the union, including the amount of such lands entered or located in the state with military scrip or land warrants. Also to pay to California 5 per cent of the proceeds of such public lands, estimating the lands entered or located with military scrip or land warrants at $1 25 per acre, and money received by the state under the provision of these acts shall be held by the said state as a school fund, interest upon which shall be used in support of the common schools of the state.

Filibustering Threatened.

It is probable there will be a day or two of filibustering in the house as soon as the bill extending bank charters is disposed of, and Mr. Calkins, chairman of the elections committee, says he will call up the Mackey-O'Connor contested election when the suspending business is out of the way, and has written or telegraphed to every absent republican member to return to the city and help make a quorum. Democrats held a caucus, which was well attended, and they resolved to filibuster, if need be, against consideration of the Mackey-O'Connor case, in advance of regular appropriation bills and other important public business on the calendar. If republicans can secure the attendance of a quorum of their members, they can carry forward the election cases; but there is small prospect of a sufficient number being present to successfully overcome the filibustering tactics of their opponents.

A Tennessee Reformer.

CHICAGO, May 17.—Times Washington special says: Ex-representative Moore, of Tennessee, continues his war upon Tennessee democrats holding office at the capitol, and he has created something of a stir by securing the dismissal of Mrs. Wilcox from a clerkship in the postoffice department. Mrs. Wilcox was the daughter of Mr. Donelson, an adopted son of Andrew Jackson, and was born at the white house. Wilcox, her husband, was a confederate general. Mrs. Wilcox was appointed to the place by General Grant, when president. Mr. Moore, in talking about the subject says: "The crude bill, which I introduced January 23, outlines my general ideas on that subject." The bill is as follows:

WHEREAS, The government of the United States is a government necessarily of parties, and

WHEREAS, The interests of a successful party demand distribution of public offices among those who indorse principles of said party, and

WHEREAS, Under existing peculiarities of our human nature as well as the genius of our institutions, no party can prosper under a system which recognizes the right of one set of claimants to hold office continually; therefore,

Be it enacted, etc., that all appointees by the president of the United States, shall be made for a period of four years; provided that in case of capable, efficient and faithful service to the government and fidelity to the party in power, they may be subject to further re-appointment of four years; but it is expressly provided that in no case shall the maximum term of service extend for a longer period of time than eight years.

Congressional Notes.

Congressman Page says that he has not reached the conclusion when to move passage of the river and harbor bill in the house. It will be passed under suspension of rules and probably within the next three weeks. Certain gentlemen are very anxious to make speeches on the bill but they will not be given an opportunity.

The attempts to create an opposition to the president in the senate do not meet with great success. Senator Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, in executive session to-day opposed confirmation of collector of internal revenue, A. J. Kaufman, in his state. He appealed to senators to vote against Kaufman, but no charges being made against him, and the basis of opposition being political, Mitchell did not get half a dozen votes.

Democratic Caucus.

A democratic caucus was held by members of the house of representatives, for the purpose of discussing and deciding upon a course of procedure in contested election cases of Mackey vs. O'Connor, from the second district of South Carolina. After a session of nearly three hours, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the purpose indicated by the republican majority in the house of representatives to force a decision in the contested election case of Mackey vs. O'Connor, upon evidence which was materially altered by Mackey without notice of O'Connor, or Dibble, the present occupant, or their knowledge, which evidence has been openly charged to have been forged, and which evidence has been recently proved by sworn testimony in a federal court to have been forged, and the denial by the republican majority through its party vote in committee, of an opportunity to Dibble, the present contestee, to have evidence so altered by Mackey recounted in the manner and subject to the safeguards prescribed by law for ascertainment of truth, is a flagrant attempt to deny the injustice in said case, demanding that it shall receive our condemnation.

Shipherd's Snubbing.

Shipherd, of the Peruvian company, was one of the most disgusted men that ever appeared before the investigating committee, this morning, when he was notified, after he had refused to answer questions put to him by members of the foreign affairs committee, that his further presence was not desired. He had evidently expected to be treated as an object of importance, and perhaps brought before the bar of the house for contempt. He prepared a mass of stuff to lay before the committee regarding his treatment by ex-Secretary Blaine, that he evidently hoped would again direct public attention to his grievances. Blaine convicted Shipherd by testimony of over six witnesses, of being a consummate liar, and Shipherd naturally did not want to be relieved from attendance on the committee till he had a chance to reply. He has written a long letter to-day to Williams, chairman of the committee, demanding to be heard. Senator Blair says Shipherd is capable of weaving an ingenious story out of his own imagination and relating it to a committee under oath as truth, being incapable often times of distinguishing the difference between that which he wants to occur and that which has actually occurred.

Important R. R. Decision.

Representative Taylor of Ohio, from the house committee on [illegible], has submitted a report to the house [illegible] the Northern Pacific [illegible] lands [illegible] work of [illegible] committee [illegible] exist [illegible] if the [illegible]

The sub-committee charged with examination of [illegible] has been requested by the full committee to hasten preparation of their report.

Small-Sized Deadlock.

Some doubt is expressed to-night whether the bank bill will be finally voted on before Saturday. To-morrow is for private bill day, and a majority of the democrats want the regular order to prevail. Last Friday the bank bill was called up and Randall then successfully led a filibustering movement that lasted two hours. "Private business, or no business," was the democratic cry, and as a result of the devotion to business was transacted. While there are quite a number of democrats who desire the bank bill disposed of as soon as possible, the majority have been withstanding with difficulty from filibustering against its passage, and they may be able to successfully prevent action upon it for at least one day if the republicans will press the Mackey-O'Connor case. As soon as the bank bill is put away members of both parties anticipate a bitter fight over this case.

The democrats have decided to filibuster against it, and republicans are at present without a quorum of their members in attendance. There is a strong feeling on the majority side, however, that the Mackey-O'Connor and other southern contested election cases must be acted upon at the present session. The republicans will not surrender the control of public business to the minority without a long and bitter struggle, and not until it is apparent that a quorum of their numbers can't be obtained. Leaders on both sides appear willing at the present time to lay aside important business to make or lose a little political political effect in the approaching elections.

Prizes for Marksmanship.

The war department has issued an order setting forth the scheme of competition for prizes intended to raise the standard of marksmanship of both officers and men.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 18.

House bill authorizing receipt of U. S. gold coin in exchange for gold bars passed.

Chilcott introduced a bill appropriating $20,000 for representation of the government in the national mining and industrial exposition at Denver; referred to committee on appropriations.

Conger said he would urge action upon bills for public buildings to-morrow.

The five per cent land bill was then taken up. Saulsbury's amendment, prohibiting states receiving money from applying any of it to pay agents employed to procure it, was modified by Beck, adding the words, "except this be in accordance with the laws of the state passed after the passage of this act," adopted.

Vance advocated the amendment requiring the quantity of land donated for railroads and educational purposes in the states named to be ascertained, and opposed the bill.

The discussion was continued by Conger, Allison and McDill, and then Morgan offered an amendment, which was accepted by the friends of the bill, requiring the payment of five per cent. be made in cash instead of bonds.

Morrill gave notice of amendments and the bill went over to the executive session. Adjourned.

House.

On motion of Kasson the bill providing that any person, being originally a citizen of the United States, who has been naturalized as a subject of Great Britain, may publicly declare his renunciation of such naturalization and resume his character and privileges as a citizen of the United States by signing an instrument to that effect.

House resumed consideration of the bank charter extension bill, the pending question being on the amendment offered Buckner reducing the period for which banks may extend their charters from twenty to ten years; lost, 92 to 116.

Cannon offered the following amendment as an additional section to the bill: That national banks now organized or hereafter organized having a capital of $150,000 or less shall not be required to keep a deposit with the treasurer of the United States bonds in excess of $10,000 as security for their circulating notes, and such of those banks having on deposit in excess of that amount are authorized to reduce their circulation by a deposit of lawful money as provided by law; adopted—yeas 102, nays 100.

Cannon moved to reconsider and lay that motion on the table; agreed to—yeas 111, nays 96.

Hammond then offered his amendment, providing jurisdiction for suits hereafter brought by or against national banking associations except suits between them and the United States, or its officers, or its agents, shall be the same as jurisdiction for suits brought for or against banks not organized under any law of the United States, agreed to.

Randall offered an amendment, providing that the organization of any banking association intended to replace any existing banking association retain the name thereof. Holders of stock in the expiring association shall be entitled to preference in the allotment of shares of the new association in proportion to the number of shares held by them respectively in the expiring association; adopted.

Holman offered an amendment, providing that every banking association which shall obtain profit by this act shall pay the cost of preparing plates for such new circulation notes as shall be issued by it and all other costs incident to the substitution of such new circulating notes for old in addition to the tax now imposed on banking institutions by law; adopted.

A long discussion followed on the merits of greenbackism.

On motion of Crapo the following amendment was inserted at the end of section 7, "and the franchises of such association as an association is hereby extended for the sole purpose of liquidating their affairs until such affairs are finally closed."

Section 7 has reference to banking associations which do not avail themselves of the provisions of the act.

Randall then offered his amendment as an independent section.

Crapo offered as a substitute the following: "That any national banking association now organized or hereafter organized desiring to withdraw its circulation notes upon deposit of lawful money with the treasurer of the United States as provided in sec. 4 of the act of June 20, 1874, shall be required to give 90 days' notice to the secretary of the treasury of its intention to deposit lawful money and withdraw its circulating notes, provided not more than $3,000,000 of lawful money shall be deposited during any calendar month for this purpose; and provided, further, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to bonds called for redemption by the secretary of the treasury, but when the bonds are called for redemption, banks holding such called bonds shall surrender them within 30 days after maturity of call."

Randall declared his willingness to accept the substitute.

Culbertson, of Texas, moved an amendment by providing that no bank shall surrender any more than one-tenth of its circulation in any one year; rejected; ayes, 88; nays, 116.

Haskell of Kansas said he intended to vote for the pending bill but he was not prepared to support it since the amendment offered by Cannon had been adopted, because it radically changed the national banking system. He dare not cast his vote for the proposition that would open the door to a possible contraction of currency that might reach a hundred million dollars.

Cannon opposed the amendment offered by Crapo. The effect of it, he contended, was to organize a corner on 4s and 4½s and squeeze the bank out.

The speaker laid before the house a message from the president transmitting the concluding report of the secretary of state and accompanying papers relative to the imprisonment of Thos. Shields and Chas. Webber in Mexico; referred. Among the papers is the copy of a letter signed by Shields, Webber and Salm to Representative Bayne of Pennsylvania and is as follows: "We are released from jail and have had an interview with Hon. H. P. Morgan, and from the evidence produced we are satisfied that he has done all in his power for us. We make this statement without any mental reservation." Adjourned.

San Francisco Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Gen. W. L. Elliott has been selected as grand marshal and Rev. T. K. Noble president of decoration day. In the evening the oration will be delivered by Rev. C. D. Barrows, and a poem will be read by D. O'Connell.

In the case of police officer John Mooney, on trial in department eleven of the superior court on the charge of assault to murder D. J. Murphy, only seven jurors thus far have been examined, but none of these have yet been accepted. Defense will be "extraordinary insanity," and examination of jurors as to their belief in this state is being made most searching.

Several new cases of smallpox are reported developed to-day on the steamer Altonwer. Dr. Foye of the pest house states that at present he has 70 patients of the Mongolian race in his charge. He can accommodate 250 of them and about 150 Caucasians. Three white persons were discharged from the hospital to-day.

This afternoon 66 deaths are reported for the six days commencing on Saturday last. To-day only seven are reported.

More Imported Smallpox.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Seven new cases of smallpox reported among Chinese passengers on the steamer Altonwer this evening. The engineer of the steamer and two seamen are down with disease and were removed to the hospital.

John Russell Young in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—John Russell Young, the new minister to China, arrived this afternoon by overland train. He will probably sail for Hongkong on the steamer Arabic, which is announced to depart on Saturday. Mr. Young positively declines to say anything regarding Chinese affairs, or the official instructions he has received from the department at Washington.

San Francisco Freight Situation.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—The tone of the grain market is firm and tendency is toward higher prices. There is no change to report from the interior, and if the present favorable weather keeps on the damage reported of late will undoubtedly be in a measure repaired. Hope of an excessive crop however is abandoned. Two ships have been chartered but rates are kept private. The freight market is not a strong one, though a light amount of tonnage on spot and tardy arrival of ships fully due have worked in its favor. The fleet on the way is increasing rapidly and the outlook is for low rates compared with the past two years.

A Wilde Seance.

New York News.

While Capt. Foster was swapping lies with Ned Fry, out at the Cliff house, San Francisco, last week, Oscar drove up with Mr. Lock, and, taking a stained glass attitude on the balcony, was for some minutes lost in a contemplation of the grand old ocean breaking on the cliffs far down below him.

"How grand the roar of the ocean," he said, dreamily, to the captain.

The captain was a little taken back, but agreed that it was.

"Would any price be too great for the glory of watching hour by hour, and day by day, through the placid waveless days of summer and the grand turbulence of the wintry gales?"

"Fifty a month," said the captain, who, while Oscar sighed unheeded, asked Fry what kind of a canary bird it was, anyhow.

After a time they went to the bar, where Oscar ordered "some milk, fresh from nature's odorous laboratory," while the others took a little lemon in theirs. Then Fry and the captain and another gentleman sat down to play "dollar ante."

"What seze do like ante?" said Oscar, dreamily, in a mezzo soprano sigh.

They explained.

"I, too, will dill in the passing day, if I may."

"Of course," and they gave him a seat and chuckled way down in their bronchial tubes.

A greatness was upon him. Sometimes an unutterable melancholy would fill with dark shadows his dreaming eyes, but he said little—only sighed.

Capt. Foster did not sigh. Several times he might have been heard to say something about dynamite. Mr. Fry was also a little melancholy, but talked in a different strain, several times saying, stupidly, "—— the luck."

By and by it was Oscar's deal, and he caressed the cards gently and distributed them languidly, like [illegible] at communion.

Everybody went in. The captain took two cards. Fry took one and Oscar one.

"I will contribute a five spot," said the captain, locating a five dollar piece in the centre of the green.

"It will cost you five more," remarked Mr. Fry disseminating a ten.

"Beshrew me, but I am oppressed with doubt," murmured Oscar. "Could I but penetrate the dark veil of the future. But no, nay, then I will risk all," and he doubtfully and sadly put up his portion.

"Ten harder," said the captain.

"Ten more than you," remarked Fry.

Oscar knitted his brow. "Verily, I am in the vortex, and the [illegible] sky is murky, but I must stay. I will [illegible] call on you."

And the captain [illegible] the [illegible] throng.

"Three aces," said he.

"Full hand," said Fry, proudly, as he allowed his cards and reached for the money.

"Too-loo," the aest murmured, as he almost weepingly laid down four deuces.

And when the captain had flung his cards out of the window and Fry was making the air blue with intercessions, Oscar winked his eye audibly, and remarked in blank and frozen [illegible]:

"Now that I [illegible] it, gentlemen, we used to indulge in this little recreation at Oxford. Come and take a seltzer with me."

Johnny Shaw, who, six years ago, was a California millionaire, who lost every dollar and went to prison as a vagabond and drunkard, is out and has made $75,000 on his new fortune, which is very rough on those people who gave him a kick when he was down and can't seem to make folks forget it.

SUPREME COURT

SALEM, May 18.

Court met at 10 A. M., full bench present.

James Warden et al., appellants, vs. [illegible] et al., respondents; appeal from [illegible] county: decree of the court below reversed. Opinion by Watson, J., Lord, C. J., concurring.

SYLLABUS.

1. The eighth section of the act of congress approved September 4, 1841, entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands and to grant pre-emption rights," operated as a present grant to the state of Oregon, upon her admission into the Union, of the 500,000 acres of land for purposes of internal improvement therein specified, requiring only a selection, by the state in pursuance of the requirements of said section, to subject the particular tracts selected to the operation of the grant.

2. The act of the state legislature approved October 19, 1860, entitled, "An act to provide for the possessory and pre-emptory rights of 500,000 acres of land donated to the state of Oregon," and making provision for locations upon the public lands of the United States within the limits of the state by private individuals, with the right of pre-emption, in advance of any selection of such lands by the state, was valid, and a locator under the same or his successors in interest, upon complying with the provisions of the acts of the legislature of October 15, 1862, and October 26, 1868, in regard to payment for the lands so located, became, as soon as such lands were selected by the state in conformity with the act of congress, entitled to a deed from the state therefor.

3. One who subsequently applied for and obtained a deed from the proper board in the name of the state will be held, in equity, as a trustee of the legal title for such location, even though he took no notice of the latter's claim. The doctrine of notice has no application in such cases.

4. The state board had no power, after a valid disposal of state lands had been made to one person, in accordance with law, to make another disposal of the same lands to a different person, and want of notice is no defense for the latter in the suit of the former for a conveyance of title to himself. The rule caveat emptor applies.

5. A valid law operates according to the intention of the lawmaker. The several acts of the legislature upon the subject in controversy show unmistakably that the legislature intended the locator, under the act of Oct. 19, 1860, should have the exclusive right to procure the title of the state under the act of congress, in the lands located and paid for in conformity with their requirements; and when lands so located and paid, for were afterwards selected by the state in due form, the right of the locator to a state deed therefor became perfect and indefeasible according to such intention.

James Walsh vs The Oregon Railway & Navigation Company; on trial.

Court took a recess until 1:30 this afternoon.

VARIOUS CONUNDRUMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I would like to ask you what are the necessary qualifications of a justice of the peace—one who will protect the interests of the taxpayers? The reasons I ask for your opinion are these: There is a person asking for the nomination for that office at the hands of the democratic county convention with the following qualifications: As a short card player, he is one of the best. He knows all the important cards in the deck in twenty minutes after the game commences. He is a fine shot and fond of fishing, and at both he is skilled and lucky. But with all his luck and skill at those manly sports he has not been able to "buck" that noble animal, the "tiger," although he admits a No. 10 Columbiad; and in his younger days when a great fancier of the noble horse and in the capacity of a jockey, he was known to pull harder than a government mule. If these qualities with others more odious will constitute the necessary requirements of a good justice of the peace, then I say the person referred to ought to be nominated, but if these qualities are not the kind for good officers, I say the democrats had better quit talking about some of the nominees on the republican ticket. If you see fit in the interest of honesty and justice to publish this, I may furnish you with some facts in regard to the moral character as shown by some of the specific acts of this aspirant for judicial honors.

A CONSISTENT DEMOCRAT.

A SEA-SICK OPERA.

The Fay Templeton Troupe Afloat on Lake Michigan.

Peck's Milwaukee Sun.

The Fay Templeton opera company was from Milwaukee on their way to Michigan, across the lake on that fearful stormy night. They had rather have given a week's salary than to have gone, but they were billed to appear on a certain night and had to go. They say that when the boat stood on its hind legs and walked on the water, John Templeton leaned over the rail and looked just as does "Prince Lorenzo," in the Mascotte, when he is traveling as a cornet player. He was shut up like a jack-knife, and rusted shut, so they had to oil his hinges before they could open him. He said he had heard of troupes going barnstorming and walking home, but steamboat storming could make a man sicker than anything.

Seth Crane, the "Pippo" of the party, got against the smokestack and tried to sing his part of the "gobble song," but when he got to "baa-aa" the air was full of high notes and Kirby home-a-menu, and then he wiped his eyes and sung "empty is the baby, the main brace is gone." He tried to jump overboard, but was so light after his stomach difficulty that he would not descend, so he crawled into a lifeboat and held himself by clinging to the atmosphere. He said he never expected to get his voice back, as there was no life-preserver on it.

Alice Vane knew she was going to be sick, and she went right to bed and inhaled chloroform, thinking it would last till the boat got across the lake, but when the boat turned over a couple of times she was wide awake in one corner of the berth with a wash stand kicking her with its hind legs in her back, and a mattress trying to play her for Desdemona and smother her in cold blood or take water, she couldn't tell which, but it was wet. As soon as Alice got time she was sick, and offered her brother-in-law five dollars to kill her, but he said money was no object to him as long as he could have a good time, and he leaned over the stair rail and tried to drown a couple of chorus singers who were sitting on the bottom stair trying to die by inches.

Fay Templeton was the only one that did not get sick at first, and she was the life of the party, singing and laughing, eating lemons, and giving the rest of them big talk about her being an "old sea girl." She said this was a mere zephyr compared to what she used to see on the ocean. But sat in the cabin looking at a bouquet and dreaming over the happy hours of her childhood and wondering why people would be sea-sick, and was quietly humming, "gobble, gobble, gobble," when she dropped her bouquet suddenly and grabbed hold of herself about two chains and three links to the right of where her heart is supposed by many to be located, and turned pale.

The boat gave a hop, skip and jump, and Fay's hat, as big as the cover to a cauldron kettle, shot across the cabin, her heart came into her mouth, and she fell over herself into the berth, and hung on the curtains by her teeth while she kicked her shoes off, and curled up in a heap not bigger than a sleeping-car pillow. Probably there never was a sicker "Mascotte" in the world, and when the boat landed she was the first one off, and she registered a solemn vow that she would never go anywhere again except on the cars. She says now that she can't hardly sing "In the North Sea Lived a Whale," without feeling sea sick.

A LETTER AND ITS SEQUEL.

Washington (D. C.), Army and Navy Register.

The following letter and its sequel are voluntary expressions of opinion concerning a subject of special interest to every reader of this paper. The letter is from Commander Coghlan, now in California, and the sequel from John Carr Moody, Esq., of the same state, and are eminently worthy of careful perusal and serious consideration.

The Letter.

U. S. NAVY YARD,
MARE ISLAND, CAL.,
December 16, 1881.

SIRS: An enforced residence of two years in this abominable climate of California made me the subject of most painful attacks of rheumatism, during which I was totally unable to perform the arduous duties of my office. Consultation upon my case by eminent Naval and other surgeons failed to afford me the slightest relief, and my distress was much aggravated by the fact that my physical disability would result, under the law, in my retirement from active service, on the eve of my promotion to the grade of Commander. At this period Dr. Hoyle, a friend of mine, recommended to me St. Jacobs Oil, the happy result of the use of which has constrained me, in my deep gratitude, to hereby acknowledge the complete and wonderful cure it has wrought in my case.

I am sincerely yours,
J. B. COGHLAN, U. S. N.

The Sequel.

No. 5 LAW BUILDING,
VALLEJO, SOLANO COUNTY, CAL.,
January 13, 1882.

Gentlemen: The publication in the Army and Navy Journal of a commendatory notice of St. Jacobs Oil, from the pen of my old and valued friend, Captain Coghlan of the Navy, now on duty here, reminds me of an unfulfilled task which it is a pleasure for me to complete. A sufferer for seven years from a cruel joint trouble, pronounced by some practitioners, gout, and by others, rheumatism, but distressingly painful under any name, I was slowly making my way, with my crutch, to the court room, when I was accosted by Captain Coghlan, who kindly gave me his arm. He furnished me with an account of how his well-known sufferings were alleviated by the use of the Oil and with his usual persistent energy, insisted on sending me some, which he had. Doubtingly enough, I applied it according to directions and the relief within a reasonable time, was such as to make me almost disregard the evidence of my own senses. When one has been plagued so long, grown grey with pain,—and exhausted purse, patience, and pharmacy in seeking relief, incredulity is reasonably pardoned, and blamelessly so. But after continuous use of the remedy, I am constrained to say, with especial reference to its therapeutic value, post hoc, ergo propter hoc,—and to congratulate myself, all my family specially, and the human race generally. With great relief, I am gentlemen,

Yours thankfully,
JNO. CARR MOODY.

FRIDAY MORNIN , MAY 19 1882

CHANGED CONDITIONS.

The times have changed since Mr. R. S. Smith, now the democratic candidate for the executive office, was elected to congress over Logan, and the people have changed with them. Of those who will vote in our coming election not more than one-fourth voted in 1868, when Mr. Smith was elected to congress. Mr. Logan, though his abilities were conceded, ran under great disadvantages, and Mr. Smith, in consequence of his large majority, was credited with a popularity which he never actually possessed. Reconstruction of the southern states was then in progress, and the republican policy, which included negro suffrage, ran violently against the prejudices of large numbers. Oregon was settled to a great extent from the border slave states, and many who had been republicans to the extent of supporting the war for the union and the abolition of slavery, could not readily accept the full endowment of the negro with the privileges of citizenship and the right to the ballot. In many of the northern states the elections of the preceding year had gone against the republicans on the issues of reconstruction. In Oregon, moreover, the democratic had been greatly strengthened by a large emigration from Missouri and other semi-rebel states. Large numbers, whom those states had become too hot to hold, pushed out into the remote states and territories of the west, and Oregon got more than her full share. Their full weight was felt for the first time in our election of 1868. Mr. Smith had the benefit of these special advantages, which enormously increased the vote he received. But any other well known member of the party would have obtained at that time an equally large vote. Mr. Smith had about 1200 majority. This was a large majority, but it was no more than was to have been expected under the circumstances which then existed. But, as before remarked, the times have now changed, and the people have changed with them. Emigration from other localities has been pouring into Oregon. The later arrivals are to a large extent of different politics from those who found it agreeable to quit Missouri and Arkansas on account of the "unpleasantness" in those states. For several years there has been a steady gain of republican strength in Oregon. On a full vote the republican majority since 1870 has been not large, indeed, but quite decisive. It was about 1000 in 1876; it was nearly 1400 in June, 1880. In November of the same year it was reduced to 519; but this reduction was due almost wholly to the sensitiveness of the public mind on the Chinese question and the effect of the Morey forgery. It was this forgery and nothing else that carried California and Nevada against Garfield and at the same time greatly cut down his majority in Oregon. We believe there is now a clear republican majority in the state, on a full vote, of 1500 or more. On this occasion Mr. Smith will not get more than his party vote; so that if the republicans all take the trouble to attend the election he will be beaten, and all his associates on the ticket will be beaten with him. But as all depends on republican activity it will not do to assume that this result is already assured. It may, however, be said with great certainty that if the republicans lose the election the loss will be due to their own indifference and failure to attend the polls.

THE GERM THEORY.

The prevention of diseases like small pox by inoculation was a great step in medical science. Professor Koch of Berlin it is alleged has made a discovery of equal importance, viz., that consumption is a contagious disease; that it is caused by a microscopic bacillus imbedded in the tubercle, and that this germ is transplanted from one human body to another, precisely as the germs of so-called contagious diseases are transplanted. The professor rejects the old theory that tuberculosis is caused by cold and exposure. He admits that these conditions may favor the development of the disease, but insists that the germs must be in the system before tuberculosis can be established. The London Lancet thus describes the processes by which Professor Koch demonstrates his theory:

> Taking a speck of matter from a tuberculous human lung he infected a substance prepared by himself as nutriment for the parasite and let it develop. A minute drop of this mixture was then permitted to infect another nutritive substance, and in due time, after development, a drop of this was again used, and so on, until many generations had gone by. At the end of this time minute quantities of the last cultivation were injected into various animals, and in every case, without exception, they died of tuberculosis. Six guinea pigs were experimented with. Four were inoculated with a scarcely perceptible amount of a preparation of the fifth generation of the bacillus and two were untouched. The four thus infected sickened and lost flesh. At the end of thirty-two days one died, and four days later the other three were killed. Every one of them had well marked tuberculosis in the spleen, lungs and liver, while the two which had not been infected, when killed, were absolutely free from the parasite as well as from tubercles. Eight other guinea pigs were infected with cultivated bacilli of the eighth generation, the original being a speck of lung of a consumptive monkey. The results were identical, the disease losing none of its virulence. Similar experiments were made with cats, rats, mice, rabbits and other animals, and injection of the fluid into the system was invariably followed by decided and in most cases virulent tubercular disease. Rabbits were injected even in the aqueous humor of the eye, with the cultivated bacillus and were victims of tuberculosis, and so on through a series of patient experiments, which could never have been performed if the crusade against vivisection—principally encouraged by women whose ivory ornaments, ostrich feathers, humming-bird skins and the like are torn from living bodies with infinite torture—had been successful.

Many will regard Mr. Edison's scheme for reaching the North Pole in a sledge pushed over the ice by its occupants as a joke, but a reporter who describes it, represents it as a serious suggestion on the part of the great inventor. It certainly is not as perilous a project as that of Commander Cheyne, of the British navy, who is soliciting funds with which to construct balloons for polar exploration. It is doubtful if Mr. Edison's sledge would ever be pushed far enough to carry its occupants into danger. A sledge 100 to 200 feet long, and, with its freight, weighing several tons, might easily be pushed on smooth ice with poles, but the track from Wangel Land to the North Pole would not be exactly smooth. Mr. Edison says the sledge might be made 500 feet long, so that it would glide easily along on the tops of the tallest hummocks of ice. As there is no known race of giants from which to select men to handle the poles with which such an immense sledge would be pushed, Mr. Edison's scheme is not likely to be immediately executed. It is evident, however, that the terrible sufferings of the crew of the Jeannette have not discouraged attempts to solve the polar mystery. On the contrary, more minds than ever are at work upon the great problem.

It is hardly worth while for the members of the gang who robbed the state under the Grover-Chadwick administration, with those who aided and abetted them, to come forward with their dreary platitudes in praise of the alleged honesty of those performances. They dispute the amount of the debt created by their profligacy. But as the increase, caused by their robberies and extravagance, was large enough to require an increase of the state tax from four mills to seven and a half mills, and this upon a largely increased valuation, it is quite unnecessary to dispute about the details. And yet the details have been published often enough.

The returns of the census taken in Italy at the close of the year 1881, have just been published. They show the population of the kingdom to be 28,452,561, an increase during ten years of 1,650,846. The number of Italians in other countries is estimated at 800,000. The only city in the kingdom whose population has decreased during the last ten years is Florence.

Russia's harsh policy toward the Jews is taking millions of dollars out of the empire and seriously interrupting trade in many departments. A dispatch estimates the total direct loss by removal so far at $110,000,000.

SUPREME COURT REORGANIZATION.

Mr. David Davis addressed the senate last week in support of his bill to establish a court of appeals. The bill was introduced early in the session and was reported by the judiciary committee in March. Mr. Davis' speech was a detailed explanation of the objects of the bill and was prepared with an array of facts forcibly presented to illustrate the necessity for affording relief to the over-crowded calendar of the supreme court. While the business of that court has grown very rapidly in recent years, there has been no corresponding enlargement of the power of the court to dispatch business, its machinery being about the same as it was 50 years ago. If the existing organization is insufficient to meet the wants of the people, there can be no reason for failing to admit that it is the duty of congress to meet the necessity by appropriate legislation, for otherwise just laws cannot be enjoyed through lack of power to enforce them. When Chief Justice Marshall entered upon his duties there were 10 cases on the calendar. The first volume of the court reports contained 366 cases, all the cases adjudged in three terms. Business accumulated steadily, keeping pace with the growth of the country. In 1830 there were 42 cases on the calendar. In 1840 there were 92; 253 in 1850; 310 in 1860; 636 in 1870, and then the number rose to 1202 in 1880. The reports have become bulky. So overburdened are the judges that there is no ground for the hope that a case will be disposed of in less than three years after it is entered upon the calendar.

Mr. Davis considers the judges of the court entirely free from blame for this state of things. They are very industrious, but the nature of their work is such, and the practice of the court so careful, that it is not possible to hurry business. He sketched briefly the several plans suggested for facilitating the work of the court, some of them even contemplating three divisions of the court and the conferring of power to appeal from one division to another until the highest division shall have been reached. All these propositions, he said, promised only to complicate and not to facilitate business.

The bill now before the senate proposes to establish in each of the circuits of the United States a court of appeals, with appellate jurisdiction of all cases arising in the circuit and district courts. The court of appeals is to consist of the justice of the supreme court assigned to the circuit, the circuit judges, and two of the district judges, to be designated by an order of the court at each term to serve for the succeeding term, the designation to be made as far as practicable in rotation. Any four of the judges, including one judge competent to preside, shall constitute a quorum. The clerical force of the court is prescribed in detail. Writs of error and all other cases of appeal may be taken to this court of appeals from decrees of the circuit or district courts, when the amount claimed or the value of the property in controversy exceeds $500, or where the circuit or district judge shall certify that the adjudication involves a question of general importance. Further details are provided for, and Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, New Orleans, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco are named as the places in which the first term shall be held on the first Tuesday in November, 1882, and on the second Tuesday in May, and the first Tuesday in November thereafter. Decisions of the court of appeals on questions of fact are to be conclusive, except in certain cases provided, and reviews of questions of law may be had upon writs of error to the supreme court when the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $10,000, the present limitation being $5000. Other exceptional permissions to appeal are accorded, such as questions involving the construction of the constitution or the validity of a treaty or a law of the United States. The bill authorizes appointment by the president of two additional circuit judges for each circuit. Mr. Davis' views, of which his bill is the embodiment, are of special value because of his distinguished service as an associate judge and his practical knowledge of the workings of the supreme court.

The Burlington (Vt.) Free Press has casually found in its files of a dozen years ago an account of a little episode in the United States senate. Senator Conkling had interrupted Senator Edmunds in a speech on civil service reform with the supercilious remark that the senator from Vermont was fighting a windmill. "Certainly," replied Mr. Edmunds; "the senator from New York!" A "chuckle of appreciation," it is said, "ran through the senate."

It is reported from San Francisco that ships from China are bringing smallpox as well as Chinese. This should serve as a warning to the physician whose duty it is to examine vessels and passengers arriving here. The several Chinese ships soon to arrive cannot be too closely examined. The bill passed by the council Wednesday night, compelling vaccination of all Chinamen arriving, is a good and timely measure. The very presence alone of Chinese is evil enough.

The heirs of Mr. Longfellow, actuated by a sense of honor and a desire to carry out the great poet's wishes in every respect, have taken measures to give effect to the will which was declared illegal and void by erasures and interlineations. They have pledged themselves, under oath, to take no advantage of the informal manner in which Mr. Longfellow altered his will, and to observe scrupulously his wishes as to the distribution of his estate.

L. J. Jennings, the London correspondent of the New York World, does not believe that Ireland will ever be quiet again until she has achieved complete national independence.

LOTS ON THE INSTALLMENT PLAN.

SPLENDID BUILDING LOTS ARE NOW OFfered in the Reed tract in East Portland, at $130 per lot on $12 50 per month installments. This property is the most beautifully situated of any yet offered in the market, and is high and level, commanding a beautiful view of the Willamette river and city of Portland. This property lies on the extension of Fifteenth street, on the Milwaukie road, and adjoins the property lately purchased by the O.R.& N. Co. If the bridge is located in South Portland (as many believe) it will be within a few hundred feet of this property. Careful selections made for non-residents. PRIDAY MORNING, MAY 19, 1882.

CITY.

Work at the Dry Dock.—Work on the new dry dock below Albina is progressing very well considering the limited number of men employed, the nature of the work being such that but a few men can be used advantageously. A stream of water, coming from a spring on the hillside, runs into the excavation constantly, which together with the seepage, makes a steam pump necessary, which is kept working both day and night. Piles are being driven around the outer edge of the excavation, the tops of which are to stand several feet above the level of the ground. Derricks are not used in excavating, as was first planned, scrapers and wheelbarrows doing the work very well. The superintendent thinks that with no back-set the work can be completed at the time agreed upon.

Decoration Day at Vancouver.—In addition to the speakers heretofore mentioned at Decoration Day ceremonies at Vancouver, Gov. W. W. Thayer and Gen. Henry A. Morrow, have promised to be present and deliver addresses. If Col. Effinger returns from his campaigning tour through eastern Oregon in time, he also will speak. Judge Matthew P. Deady was invited, but had to decline owing to engagements elsewhere. Capt. Henry H. Pierce, the well known litterateur, will write a poem for the occasion, entitled "The Loyal Dead." It will be read by Mrs. John W. Cochran. It is understood that the Mexican war veterans of this city will participate in the exercises. Gen. Morrow has extended them an invitation to come as his guests. Steamboat accommodations from Portland will be ample.

A. O. U. W. Hall Company.—Articles of incorporation of the A. O. U. W. Hall association were filed at the county clerk's office yesterday. Their object is to purchase a lot in this city upon which to erect a hall, and to let, lease, mortgage or sell the same if they see fit. The capital stock is $25,000—1250 shares at $20 each. Their principal office and place of business will be in Portland. The incorporators are F. B. Berry of Hope Lodge No. 1; J. Fred Clark of Unity Lodge No. 25; John A. Child of Portland Lodge No. 27, W. C. McKean of Industry Lodge No. 14; Wm. S. Stevens of Pacific Lodge No. 17; Wm. Pfunder of Multnomah Lodge No. 48.

New Dock Commenced.—The O. R. & N. Co.'s new dock adjoining the dry-dock has been commenced. Two pile-drivers are now used, and about 400 piles, extending about 80 feet from the shore, have already been driven. Those next the shore will be driven in a line and then boarded upon the outside, so that the railroad grade can be made directly along side and the trains run on it. It is stated that so soon as a larger force of men can be used to an advantage, they will be put on, and every means used to push the work as rapidly as possible.

One Line Finished.—Next Sunday, the 21st inst., the first passenger train will arrive at Bonneville from The Dalles. It will leave the latter point at 5 A. M., arriving at Bonneville at 8:10 A. M. The connecting boat will reach Portland about 1 P. M. To-morrow will be the last day of regular through navigation on the middle Columbia. The railroad will then have superseded steamboats. Commencing Monday, the 22d, the upper Columbia boat will leave Ainsworth dock at 9 A. M., connecting at Bonneville with the train which leaves at 3:25 P. M.

New Powder Factory.—The parties who have the contract for furnishing the Northern Pacific railroad with blasting powder, are about to erect a powder manufactory somewhere on Lake Pen d'Oreille. Owing to the high rates charged for transportation on this class of freight, the company think they can do better by shipping the raw material from the east and manufacturing the powder near the place where it is to be used.

Serious Result.—Robert D. Inman, one of the proprietors of the North Pacific Company's new saw mill near the boneyard, stepped on a nail about ten days ago. He paid little attention to the matter at first. Blood poisoning set in which involved the entire system, and last night the attending physician was of the opinion that the patient could not recover. Mr. Inman is a member of Hope Lodge A. O. U. W.

Hack Tipped Over.—A hack team belonging to Geo. W. Baker, while standing in front of New Market theater last night about 10 o'clock, started to run away, and in turning tipped the hack over on the sidewalk. A man named Johnson was passing at the time and was struck by the upper edge of the falling vehicle, but escaped with only a bruise. The rig was gotten on its wheels shortly afterward and sent to a livery stable.

Case Continued.—The case of Jack McDonald was called in the police court yesterday, but on motion of his counsel was continued until this afternoon. He is charged with robbing William Cuming of a gold watch while riding in a hack at the lower end of town.

Rallies.—To-night Hon. J. F. Caples and Geo. P. Riley will address the South Portland republican club at its rooms on First street, between Clay and Market. To-morrow night W. Lair Hill will address the people of this city at Turn Halle.

Coming Back.—John Maguire, formerly manager of New Market, is en route to Portland via Boise City and Wood river, where he is giving monologue entertainments. He expects to reach here about June 1st.

Special Church Services.—Prof. T. F. Campbell preached to a large and attentive audience last evening at the Christian church, and will preach again this evening. All are cordially invited.

Correct Name.—In answer to the inquiry of a democratic subscriber in Yamhill county, we would say that the name of the democratic candidate for state treasurer is Hyman Abraham.

Episcopal Appointments.—Bishop Morris has the following appointments for May: Sunday after Ascension (21st) McMinnville; Whit Sunday, (28th) Salem.

BRIEF MENTION.

Prof. J. Murphy will repeat his excellent lecture to young men at the Mariners' Home to-morrow night.

There will be a regular meeting of Portland Lodge No. 55, A. F. & A. M., at their lodge room, Masonic Temple, this (Friday) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Edward C. Brooks of Linkville, the successful candidate for the appointment to West Point, left home on the 13th, and expects to reach his destination on the 28th inst.

ROASTED SIWASH.

[Occasional Correspondence.]

On Board Steamer Chehalis,
Puget Sound, May 15.

We just made a landing at Coupeville, Whidby island, where I learned of the roasting of the chief of the Skagit Indians. He had imbibed too freely of fire-water and fell across his wigwam fire, literally roasting to death. He had been chosen "Tyee" at the last potlatch.

Brutal Assault.

Alba Jones, aged 70 years, was beaten nearly to death Friday last by a Coupeville bruiser, Jim Robinson, of unsavory reputation.

FIRE AT OLYMPIA.

One of the Principal Business Blocks Destroyed—Loss Over $100,000.

[Special Dispatch to the Oregonian.]

Olympia, W. T., May 18.—At 2 o'clock this morning fire started in the Vienna restaurant, on Main street in this city, and before long the buildings on each side were wrapped in flames, and before it was over four-fifths of one of the principal business blocks in the city was a mass of smoking ruins. Had it not been for the almost superhuman efforts put forth by the citizens as well as by the brigade, together with the vast amount of foliage along the street, the entire business portion of the town would have been totally destroyed. The following list of losses has been hastily gathered and will give some idea of the extent of the calamity: Tuttle & H Jones, tinners, loss $5,000, insurance $5000; Joseph Chilberg, merchant, $6000, total loss; G. R. Talcott, jeweler, loss $3000, insurance $1400; Toklas & Co., loss $10,000, insurance $6000; W. H. Clark, stock fully insured, loss $2000; Courier office, loss $1000, caused by breakage in moving; J. Geo. Clapper, baker, two buildings, loss $3000; Wright, saddler, loss $200; R. Frost, loss $10,000, insurance $5000; Mrs Engeley, milliner, loss $1000, insurance $500; Vienna restaurant, kept by W. Smith, loss $1200, no insurance; W. J. Doane, oysterman, loss $250; P. Hiltz, beer saloon $2500; J. N. Gale, postoffice, $400 (the mail was saved by clerk, Lyman Martin); J. McCarragher, loss $210; Jacob Ott, $1000.

Too much praise cannot be given to the ladies for the assistance rendered, especially Miss Mary O'Neill and Miss Addie Wood, both of whom worked like brave heroines. There were quite a number of minor losses, which will probably make the total loss, exclusive of insurance, in the neighborhood of $100,000. Fortunately no lives were lost and no accidents occurred, although hundreds of [illegible] placed during the fire.

There is a great scarcity of mechanics here, and good workmen can find plenty of employment if they come here. A large body of immigrants arrived from San Francisco last night, who intend taking up land in Chehalis valley. The rain which fell this morning helped to extinguish the fire and kept the wind down, thus saving the rest of the town from destruction.

DECORATION DAY.

Headquarters Decoration Day Committee,
Grand Army of the Republic,
Portland, Or., May 18, 1882.

General orders, No. 1.—1. In compliance with general orders from national and department headquarters Grand Army of the Republic, Decoration Day, May 30, 1882, will be observed by the several posts of this city by the following ceremonies:

2. The several posts of the grand army, with such civic and military organizations as may desire to unite with them in these ceremonies, will assemble at their respective headquarters on Tuesday, May 30, at 1 o'clock P. M., and prepare for parade—to march to Lone Fir cemetery—where the exercises as prescribed by grand army ritual will take place, the several posts uniting as one battalion, after which, the decoration of the graves of our honored dead.

3. The procession will form on Third street, right resting on Alder, and the several posts and societies will leave their respective halls at 1:30 P. M., sharp, and proceed to that point, where they will report to the marshal who will assign their positions in the line.

4. The daughters of comrades who are to ride in the memorial wagon will report at the hall of Geo. Wright Post, No. 1, on First street between Stark and Washington, at 1 o'clock P. M., where an aid of the marshal will provide them with flags, etc., and escort them to their place in the line.

5. The several posts will assemble at headquarters of Geo. Wright, No. 1, at 7 P. M., uniting as one battalion, when they will proceed to New Market Theater for public exercises, which will consist of ritual work as prescribed by the G. A. R.; oration by Hon. H. Y. Thompson; vocal music by double quartette; address and song by six young ladies; poem by Comrade R. C. White; recitation by Miss Belle Castleman, etc., which will conclude the services. To these exercises the public are cordially invited.

6. The committee desire to impress upon the commanders of posts and societies, the necessity of promptness in reporting to the marshal at the hour specified, as the procession will move at 2 o'clock, sharp.

7. The committee respectfully request that all owners of bunting display the same, at half-mast, on May 30th, as a mark of respect to the memory of our fallen comrades, whose graves, from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans, will be covered with flowers on that day.

8. Should the weather prevent a procession to the cemetery, delegations from the several posts will proceed to the cemetery and decorate the graves of our comrades, and the regular exercises will all take place at the theater in the evening.

9. The following named comrades are appointed as aids to the grand marshal, and will report for duty at 1 o'clock P. M., at the corner of Third and Alder streets:

Comrades A. E. Borthwick, Geo. Wright Post, No. 1; E. H. C. Taylor, Garfield Post, No. 28; T. J. McDevitt, Stoneman Post, No. 31.

By order of the committee.

N. B. PIERCE,
Marshal of the Day.

First choice of strawberries and other edibles from 'Frisco at S. L. Stone's. Don't forget.

Candies, the latest, at S. L. Stone's.

It is rumored that the ladies who have been using "Kalkomas a," the Grecian Hair Tonic, are now trading their switches for extra hair-pins.

Repairing all kinds of sewing machines a specialty. John Barbey, Yamhill between 1st and 2d.

Uncle Myers has just opened some of the finest optical goods in the state. Spectacles to suit all eyes and sights.

The best and cheapest lot of rolled gold scarf pins and sleeve buttons in the city at 147½ First st., near Holton House.

Go to 147½ First street, for bargains in rolled gold goods.

Frieman's Coffee House, 30 Washington St., bet. First and Second. Coffee, chocolate and tea, with cakes, 10 cents. Mush and milk.

HAIR CUTTING.

Three of the finest workmen in the state are at Ferguson's hair cutting headquarters, 30 Stark street.

NATIONAL WASHING POWDERS.

These powders are labor saving, and they thoroughly cleanse clothing without damage to goods or the hands. Many ladies of Portland and elsewhere can testify to its merits. Other powders of inferior make are being sold by unscrupulous solicitors. National powders make washing easy, cleansing the clothes without washing or boiling, and saves wear, time and labor. For sale at all the grocery stores. Manufactured by Mrs. Fellows and Mrs. Holt, Fifth street, near Jefferson.

HENRICHSEN & GREENBERG,

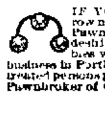
149 First St., Portland, Or.

Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry,

SILVER WARE,

CLOCKS, SPECTACLES, ETC.

Nautical Instruments and Ship Chronometers rated by transit observations and repaired.



IF YOU WANT TO BUY, SELL, OR BORROW money at low rates go to Walter O'Shea, Pawnbroker, 26 Washington street. Persons desiring loans can safely leave their valuables with him, as he is responsible. He is in business in Portland for the last ten years, and has treated persons properly at all times. O'Shea is "Boss" Pawnbroker of Oregon, and don't you forget it.

Thirteen Harvard students have been suspended by the faculty for brutally hazing some fellow students. Crow dog is also to be suspended for hazing Spotted Tail with a revolver. As Crow Dog never graduated at an American university, we are at a loss to understand where he acquired such brutal practices, but he ought to be hung all the same. The name of the tribe to which the suspended Harvard students belonged is not given.—Texas Siftings.

Texas Siftings, in response to the enthusiastic admiration expressed for Jesse James in so many quarters, publishes a touching cartoon, representing that gentle freebooter winging his way to the regions of the blest, with rifle and revolver ready for service, prepared to rob St. Peter of his keys and burglarize the celestial abodes if any objections are raised.

REAL ESTATE AUCTION.

Gilman & Co. will sell to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock 80 lots, 50x100 feet, in the Pleasant Home addition to East Portland, situated on the base line road about one mile from the Stark street ferry. Further particulars will be found in the advertisement in another column.

AT INVENTORY PRICES.

There still remains of the Van Beurden stock a very fine assortment of diamonds, watches and jewelry, which will after this date be closed out at net importer's cost. Such an opportunity for first-class goods was never before presented in Portland, and it should not be neglected. A saving of 25 to 50 per cent. is not an every day occurrence, and this is no sham sale.
